The traffic delimitation systems together with the information signs are very well used and known: any building, no matter if it is a company headquarters, hospital, supermarket or city hall, needs to coordinate the human traffic flow. Even if you stick a paper on a wall or if you block the access with a simple chain - these systems are used permanently around the globe. The lack of space will allow us to present only a few of the items we usually work with. The variety of dimensions, colors and models is huge so, for anything different than what is listed in this catalogue, please contact our specialized personnel, so that your special project will be taken care of.

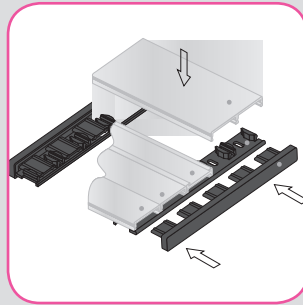

Directional and informatory displays have a very precise goal: to be visible, clear and understandable. On the other hand, although apparently the infrastructure of this kind of displays is not explicitly noted - it plays a fundamental role in this landscape. It goes without saying that we need elegant, durable, easy to maintain and, at the same time discrete structures. Here we offer you a modular system made of extruded aluminum and a wide range of accessories that allow you to create an impressive display, suitable for any kind of building.
